Newlyweds Make Home Here

Now making their home at 143 South Main Street, Minster, are Mr. and Mrs. Mark John Enneking, newlyweds of October 25.

Mr. Enneking and the former Linda Ann Buecher exchanged their vows during a two o'clock nuptial mass in Sacred Heart Church, McCartyville. The Rev. Clarence Diegelman, church pastor, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roman G. Buehler of Route 2, Anna and Mr. and Mrs. John Enneking of Route 1, Minster, are parents of the bridegroom.

Musical selections preceded the ceremony with Jerry Bornhorst at the organ. The adult choir of the church sang the responses to the mass. The main altar was graced with arrangements of white mums and white pews marked the bridal pews for the solemnization.

Chantilly lace and sata peau delicately blended together fashioned the formal gown worn by the bride. The modified empire bodice of Chantilly lace was styled with a high jewel neckline traced with pearls and long full sleeves tightly cuffed at the wrist. The slightly arched waistline was enhanced by a bow. An a-line skirt of sata peau etched with lace motifs fell floor length giving contrast to a wateau train which was edged in lace and swept to a chapel length. A lace bow with forward pearled petals held her full elbow length veil in place and she carried a bouquet of white mums and orange roses.

Four attendants preceded the bride to the altar. Miss Becky Buchler served as maid of honor and Mrs. Frank Tatum, Jr. of Oxford, Mrs. Ed Kissinger of Versailles and Miss Laura Hoffman of Dayton were bridesmaids. They wore identically fashioned floor length gowns of moss green crepe. The bodices were designed with high round necklines, long full sleeves that topped flowing gathered skirts. Braids of green crepe defined the empire waistline and streamers fell to the floor enhancing the back of the gown. Each wore bows of braided green crepe in their hair and carried bouquets of small mums in shades of bronze, gold with gold velvet ribbon streamers.

Ken Enneking was best man for his brother and groomsmen were Ted Enneking, Russell Brantlage and Bill Buchler.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Buehler chose a gold coat and dress ensemble with brown accessories. She was presented with a corsage of orange cymbidiums. Mrs. Enneking was wearing a cranberry knit dress with a matching coat and received a corsage of white cymbidiums.

Five hundred and fifty guests were received at a reception and dinner at the Minster immediately after the music for dancing by the Moonlight Se

The bride is a graduate of Anna High School, University of Dayton employed as a secretary at Minster. He graduated from M School and the College of Business University. He is in the Data Processing Department of the Minster Company.

When the newlyweds returned from their wedding trip, the bride was wearing a knit dress with brown accessories.
