Magers, Armstrong exchange vows

Cincinnati — Nina Rachael Magers and Jared David Armstrong, both of Cincinnati, were married on Friday, Oct. 20, 2006, during a 3:30 p.m. double ring ceremony at Saint Mary's Cathedral in Covington, Kentucky with the Reverend Angelo Anthony, C.P.P.S. and the Reverend Gary Boucher officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Gene and Deborah Magers of West Chester, Ohio.

The groom is the son of Dale and Doris Armstrong of Russia, Ohio, and the late Donna Armstrong.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a flowing mermaid-shaped gown from Pronovias-St. Patrick, based in Barcelona, Spain.

The bodice is asymmetrically draped in light beige pleated tulle. The pleating flows into the skirt that flares from mid-thigh, sparkling with hand-embroidered ivory and gold appliqués. She wore a cathedral length diamond tulle ivory veil embroidered by the same appliqués on French Alençon lace made by Bellissima.

Nina carried a clutch bouquet of ivory calla lilies, champagne and porcelana roses with pearled stephanotis accents. Also placed in the bouquet was her grandmother's diamond heart pendant and Jared's mother's rosary.

Emily Morgan, soloist, Greg Schaffer, organist, along with the Ault Trio, provided the music for the ceremony.

John Boucher, uncle of the bride, and Patricia Donovan, aunt of the bride, were readers at the ceremony.

Serving as maid of honor was Kelli Webb, friend of the bride. Matron of honor was Julie Anthony, cousin of the bride. Man of honor was Anthony Magers, brother of the bride.

The bridesmaids were Michelle Magers, sister-in-law of the bride, Lori Donovan, cousin of the bride, and Maggie Axson and Julie Rose, friends of the bride.

The flower girls were Kaylyn Armstrong, niece and god-daughter of the groom, and Kate Donovan and Mia Boucher, relatives of the bride.

The bridesmaids wore dresses designed by Alvina Valenta. The black strapless floor length

Mr. and Mrs. Jared Armstrong

gowns were mermaid-shaped and the fabric was illusion duet satin. They carried ivory, champagne and porcelana roses with stems wrapped in French satin with pearl accents.

The three flower girls wore ivory sleeveless organza dresses enhanced with pearl buttons and a taupe sash tied with a large double bow of flowers in the back.

They carried ivory lace baskets with ivory and porcelana spray roses accented with light pink wax flowers.

Serving as best man was Scott Armstrong, brother of the groom.

Groomsmen were Doug Armstrong and Craig Armstrong, brothers of the groom, Scott Borchers, Josh Homan, and Ryan Nichols, friends of the groom. The ring bearer was Brady Boucher, relative of the bride.

Melissa Armstrong, sister-in-law of the groom, served as guest book attendant. Melisa Boucher, cousin of the bride, and Hallie Beathard, friend of the bride, served as program attendants.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Magers wore a strapless black taffeta tiered evening gown by Amsale along with a tulle wrap accented with Swarovski Crystals.

The groom's stepmother wore a black, floor-length evening gown trimmed with bugle beads, under a shimmering jacket embellished with bugle beads.

The mothers, as well as the grandmothers, received clutch bouquets of roses to compliment their attire. The flowers for the ceremony and reception were designed by Kevin Ford, Ford Ellington Florists.

The grandparents of the bride include Dalton and Norma Magers, and the late Nina and John Boucher, Sr.

The grandparents of the groom include the late Ora and Gertrude Armstrong, the late Bernard and Thelma Davidson, and Ruth and the late Louis Aselage.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the Riverfront Club, Great American Ball Park.

Following the ceremony, a reception with dinner and dancing was held at the Hall of Mirrors, Hilton Netherland Plaza.

The couple honeymooned in Hawaii on the islands of Maui, Kauai and Oahu. They now reside in Hyde Park.

The bride is a graduate of Miamisburg High School and the University of Dayton with a Communications and Marketing Degree. She currently is the Director of Operations for Custom Mail Services.

The groom is a graduate of Russia High School. He is currently a Sales Manager for Impro Technologies.

The couple met in 1998 at the University of Dayton Homecoming.
